REGULATED REACH HEALTH MARKETING · BRAMPTON, ON

| The Challenge

A Brampton-based clinic specializing in Muslim therapy services was struggling to bridge the gap between their highly specialized offerings and the community that needed them. The practitioners were concerned that their ideal patients simply couldn't find culturally competent care because the clinic was buried under broad, highly competitive generic therapy searches.

| The Regulated Reach Solution

Regulated Reach bypassed the congested head-terms and executed a surgical keyword strategy. We identified and captured low-hanging, low-competition, high-intent transactional keywords (e.g., "Muslim therapist near me", "Muslim family counselling services"). We positioned the clinic exactly where their specific demographic was looking.
